School Children Getting Drugs To Calm Behavior

WASHINGTON (AP) — A suburban Washington public health physician says nearly 800 elementary school children in the area are receiving drugs to calm their behavior.

Dr. Esther Robinson added, however, the total represents only one per cent of the elementary school pupils.

"About 150 of the children are under the care of public health department physicians," she said Friday. "The drugs are prescribed for over-active and non-goal directed children, but only with the parents' permission."

Opposite Effect

Dr. Robinson said the drugs, Dexedrine or Ritalin, have the opposite effect on children than they have on adults. Both drugs stimulate adults but, when administered to children between six and 10 years of age, they are calming and nonaddictive, she said.

The drugs are used only long enough to curb the disruptive behavior—usually from six months to three or four years, she said.

Dr. Robinson, a public health doctor in Montgomery County, Md., said the program is not directed by the school system. She said problem students are referred to the county health department by school nurses, who work for the health department.

Drug Not Prescribed

A Montgomery County school spokesman, Kenneth K. Muir, said that "under no circumstances do the schools prescribe drugs."

"County policy forbids use of drugs in schools unless with the specific advice and consent of the physician and parent," he said.

Muir said teachers and principals have the responsibility to note hyperactivity among students and report it to parents. He said the school then leaves the problem to the physician.

Plan Reported Safe
Past experience with the drugs indicates they are safe, Dr. Robinson said. However, she acknowledged there are few, if any, long-range studies on the effects on children.

Use of similar drugs in Omaha, Neb., recently sparked public protest from parents and teachers.

Defense Costs Under Attack By Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators critical of Pentagon expenditures have launched their attack on military spending in a battle over America's defense posture that is expected to continue throughout the summer.

The theme of the attack was sounded Friday when Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., declared $10 billion could easily be trimmed from President Nixon's $72 billion Pentagon budget without impairing the nation's defense.

The defenders, led by Armed Services Committee Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said any further cuts could imperil the security of the nation.

The debate, expected to continue until Labor Day, came on a $10.2 military hardware bill—the first of several bills that comprise the total Pentagon budget.

Proxmire said Defense Department funds could be trimmed to $62 billion, perhaps as low as $58 billion, and vowed to introduce an amendment to the pending procurement bill to clamp a ceiling on military spending for the next fiscal year.

Proxmire, however, said no firm defense spending ceiling had been established.

Stennis urged quick passage of the military procurement bill for hardware such as the antiballistic missile system, offensive missiles, a new long-range bomber, fighter aircraft and tracked vehicles such as tanks.

He noted his committee already cut $1.2 billion from the administration's recommendations and said further cuts in the hardware bill would endanger the nation.

Yippie Leader Pledges Revenge For Pal's Arrest

DETROIT (AP)—Abbie Hoffman, head of the Youth International Party (Yippies), said Friday in Detroit there will be "an act of revenge" for the arrest of a young radical who had been on the FBI's list of 10 Most Wanted men.

Hoffman, speaking at a news conference, threatened revenge for the arrest of Lawrence "Pun" Plamondon and others. "Within the next week we plan an act of revenge for the matching of our brothers Pun and Skip (Milton Taube of Ann Arbor, Mich.) off the streets," Hoffman said.

2-State Search Under Way For U.P. Escapees

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP)—A two-state search was on today for two prisoners who escaped from the Michigan State Prison at Marquette and headed toward Wisconsin.

State Police said the two—William Way, 29, and Dennis Hatfield, 24—forced William Pwa of Marquette to drive them to the Wisconsin border at Knife Point Friday.

The two were described as dangerous. Pwa was camping alone about five miles south of Marquette when the two men—who walked away from the prison—came upon him. The man told police they forced him to drive them to Iron Mountain and then let him go.

He said the two then drove in Pwa's car to Wisconsin. Way was serving a term for an armed robbery conviction in Calhoun County and Hatfield was serving time for felonious assault from Oakland County.

DA Tells Los Angeles Jury Manson Wanted Race War

Sharon Tate

Accused Cult Leader Inspired By Song Title

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With a Beatles song spinning in his mind, Charles M. Manson ordered the murders of actress Sharon Tate and six others in hopes of igniting a black-white war, the state says.

To Manson, "Helter Skelter," the title of one of the Beatles' songs, meant the black man rising up against the white establishment and murdering the entire white race. Deputy Dist. Atty. Vincent Bugliosi said in an opening statement Friday at the trial of the hippie-type "family" leader and three followers on charges of conspiracy to commit murder.

Wanted Whites Wiped Out
He said Manson believed the race war would wipe out all whites except Manson and his clan who "intended to escape from Helter Skelter by going to the desert."

Bugliosi described Manson as "an avid follower of the Beatles" and said the shaggy-haired ex-convict believed the British quartet was "speaking to him across the ocean."

Manson interpreted their songs as supporting his philosophies and his "a fanatical obsession with 'Helter Skelter,'" the prosecutor said. The lyrics of the song do not mention race war.

Scrawled In Blood
"Helter Skelter" was scrawled in blood on a wall at the home of two of the victims along with "Rise" and "Death to Pigs," the words "Pigs" was written in blood at the Tate home.

Bugliosi said the scrawlings and other evidence were aimed at "making it look like the black people had murdered the five Tate victims and Mr. and Mrs. (Leno) La Bianca, thereby causing the white community to turn against the black man and ultimately lead to a civil war ... a war Manson foresaw the black man winning."

Blacks Get Impatient
The prosecutor said Manson believed the black-white war would be started spontaneously by blacks but "got impatient" and told his clan: "I'm going to show blackie how to do it." Then, said Bugliosi, he ordered the murders.

Manson's vision of the war's outcome, said the prosecutor, was that blacks "would be unable to handle the reins of power because of inexperience and would have to turn over the reins to those with people who had escaped from Helter Skelter, that is ... Manson and his followers."

Slain Aug. 9

Miss Tate was slain at her home last Aug. 9 along with four visitors. The next night, 10 miles away, Mr. and Mrs. La Bianca, wealthy market owners, were stabbed to death.

Manson, 35, arrived at the trial Friday in jail denims, a cross slashed into his forehead, framed by his long tangled locks. A defense attorney said Manson cut the cross, himself with a razor blade.

Seated with him were the other defendants, Susan Atkins, 21, in a blue sleeveless pants suit; Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, in a green velvet pants suit, and Leslie Van Houten, 20, in a blue and white striped mini dress.

The prosecutor said the state's star witness, Linda Kasabian, 21, will testify Monday that Manson's followers—including the three women defendants—were "slavishly obedient" to him and killed the seven victims at his command. He said Manson had "total domination" over his followers and described him as "a megalomaniac who coupled his insatiable thirst for power with a desire for violent death."

Attorney Objects

A defense attorney objected to the state's interjecting motive in its opening statement, and the judge ordered Bugliosi to make no further such references.

Impassive during the prosecutor's statement, Manson issued a printed statement via an attorney during a recess.

"Look at what you have done," it said in part, "an what you are doing you make fun of God and have murdered the world in the name of Jesus Christ. I am not allowed to speak with words so I have spoken with a mark I will be wearing on my forehead."

Melodramatic Tirade
Paul Fitzgerald, attorney for Miss Krenwinkel and spokesman for the defense team, said during a recess that the prosecution had "sown the seeds of its own destruction" with the opening statement. He called Bugliosi's comments "a melodramatic tirade against Manson" offered because "the prosecution lacks good evidence."

He said some aspects of the re-

Father Of 11 Dies After Car Bombing

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — Police seek a motive in the slaying of Philip J. Lucier, 49, president of Continental Telephone Co., the third largest independent telephone firm in the nation.

Lucier, father of 11, was killed Friday when a bomb placed under the driver's seat of his car exploded as he turned on the ignition.

James L. Robb and James V. Napier, vice presidents of the firm, were standing by the car waiting for Lucier to back out of a parking space after a lunch appointment. Neither was hurt.

"It must be a crackpot," said Robb, in charge of operations for the company, adding that Lucier had "no personal enemies."

Lucier, who lived in St. Louis, began as president of the small firm based in the suburb of Clayton in 1961. Since then it has acquired more than 600 independent telephone companies in the United States and several foreign countries, and its assets have grown from $26 million to more than $1 billion.

He was described by a business associate as a "fast and energetic man" who jetted to various facilities but was "never in town long enough to make any enemies."

Police Maj. Herbert Johnston said a parking attendant had been about 40 feet away from the car for the hour it was parked while the three had lunch. "It was a very professional job," Johnston said.

The explosion shredded the front seat of the car, blew a hole in the floor and Lucier must have died instantly, Robb said. He said Continental had no labor problems and Lucier never mentioned any threats or fears. "The company has made a lot of people wealthy by buying them out," he said.

Lucier had no personal enemies.

Littering Proved Downfall Of Famed White Panther

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP) — A leader of the radical White Panthers charged in connection with the bombing of a Central Intelligence Agency office said Friday his arrest resulted from "a stupid move on our part, a lack of revolutionary discipline."

Lawrence "Pun" Plamondon, 24, defense minister of the White Panther Party, and two companions were arrested in Michigan's Upper Peninsula Thursday after they were stopped for tossing a beer can from a car near St. Ignace.

Discipline Nixed
Plamondon had been on the FBI's list of 10 Most Wanted fugitives in the bombing of the CIA office in Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 29, 1968.

"The reason we were arrested is because we didn't practice revolutionary discipline," Plamondon said.

He was interviewed in his jail cell by a newsman from WWTW, Cadillac.

"A lot of times we get too loose and we throw a beer can out of the car, which is wrong anyway because of littering. So we learned a lesson, and we hope that other people who are forced to go underground by the government learn a lesson: keep revolutionary discipline at all times, and keep our heads very clear."

Plamondon said he wants to face the bombing charge "because we can prove our absolute innocence to the conspiracy charges that are awaiting us."

He said various members of the White Panther Party have pushed for a speedy trial.

Meanwhile, Abbie Hoffman, speaking at a news conference in Detroit, declined to specify what form the revenge would take but made reference to several bombings in New York earlier this year.

Pistol-Packing Man Wounds Six

ATLANTA (AP) — A man who had been standing for several minutes in the driveway of a midtown parking garage suddenly pulled a pistol and began firing—for no apparent reason, police said.

Six persons were wounded, none seriously, and dozens of late-night strollers and nightclub patrons were sent diving for cover about midnight Friday.

One man was grazed on the head; the others suffered bullet wounds in the arms and hands.

Minutes after the shooting, police arrested Harry Mitchell Camp, 29, of suburban Riverdale and charged him with six counts of aggravated assault and with carrying a pistol without a license.

Police said that when they arrested Camp eight blocks from the scene in the nearby deserted Union Station he was holding a pistol with six spent cartridges in it.

Crime-Fighter Frank Kelley Has Car Stolen

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who takes pride in his reputation as a crime fighter, is working on a personal vendetta—someone stole his official state car Friday morning.

Gone, along with the car, are his top coat, his jogging shirt, shoes and shorts and the flashy sign that says: "Attorney General—Official Business."

Kelley wore a sheepish grin as he reported the car was stolen sometime in the morning while he was staying overnight at a motel in suburban Southfield, outside Detroit.

"I had it locked anyway," he said. "I still have the keys. But maybe they didn't get such a bargain. I put more than 71,000 miles on that car since it was issued to me in April of 1969."

The car is a 1969 Chrysler New Yorker, jet black, equipped with telephone and radio aerials. It has the plates MSG002—the MSG stands for Michigan State Government.

"They must have been professionals because they also took some out-of-state plates from the parking lot," Kelley said.

Kelley reported the theft to police first thing Friday morning. Meanwhile, he had to patronize a rental agency to get back to Lansing.

LAWRENCE PLAMONDON, 24, one of the men on the FBI's "Most Wanted" list, was arrested between St. Ignace and Manistiquette Thursday by a state trooper and a deputy sheriff. Onassis, Jackie Kidnap Plot Fails; Engineer Arrested

LONDON (AP) — A British engineer who says he has "connections in Greece" faced arraignment today on charges of demanding $3.35 million in exchange for scuttling a plot to kidnap Aristotle Onassis and his wife, the former Jacqueline Kennedy.

Police said John Humphreys, 58, made several calls to insurance companies and other London firms telling of a kidnap plot. They said he claimed he had "connections in Greece."

"He says there was a plan to kidnap Onassis and Jackie but if his ransom money was paid the plan would be called off," police said without elaboration.

Humphreys was arrested after an insurance company called police. He is charged with making unwarranted statements with menaces, police said.

Swiss Student Pleased By Escanaba Welcome

By PETE MITCHELL

Christopher Kung, foreign exchange student from Bern, Switzerland, arrived in Escanaba Thursday for a two-week visit as a part of the International Youth Exchange program sponsored by the Lions Club.

Chris is a 19-year-old student interested in learning about the customs and way of life of Americans. He hopes to share his insight not only with his Swiss countrymen, but also to exchange ideas about Switzerland with Americans he encounters.

Chris will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Manning, 1918 Park Ave., and will be guided in his visit to Escanaba by Pat Manning. He hopes to participate in sporting and recreational activities as well as observe the industrial and technological advancements of the area. Sight-seeing trips will also be a part of this itinerary.

Chris is the oldest of two children. His sister, Irene, is 17. He describes his father, Jurg, as a jobber, coordinating the activities of his own gas and heating oil company. His mother, Jacqueline, is a Canadian who met Jurg Kung while working at the Canadian Embassy in Bern.

All Are Drafted
Chris has completed 12½ years of public education, with one year remaining. After graduation, all Swiss students are drafted for mandatory military service. Following a 17-week basic training, Chris hopes to take extensive training to become an officer, remaining in the military for about three years.

With the completion of military service, Chris plans to study for a law degree. He hopes to return to the U.S. as well as pursue his studies in Spain, France and Switzerland.

Chris arrived in New York two weeks ago and flew to St. Louis, Mo., where he stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Busch for two weeks. The Busch family drove Chris to Escanaba with stops at the Mackinac Bridge and the Soo Locks. He was impressed with the topography of the area, noting the greenness of the forest and the beauty of the Great Lakes.

Notes Similarities

In his two weeks in America, Chris has noted a number of similarities between Swiss and American youth.

"Swiss have a tendency to have an image of the wealthy tourist, but the majority of Americans live with a standard of living very similar to that in Switzerland," he said.

He said he feels comfortable with young people because they share the same interests in school, trying to understand themselves, and have concern about social problems.

As for differences, Chris observed that American boys are much more sports-oriented than Swiss boys.

"Every boy seems to have a favorite sport and they follow the professional athletes with much more enthusiasm than boys in Switzerland," he commented.

He said the girls are more casual than Swiss girls. He noticed almost immediately because of their blue jeans and sweat shirts. Although he prefers more formal attire, he found the casualness refreshing and helpful in breaking down any barriers to communication.

Welcome Surprising

One of his most surprising incidents has been his welcome into the communities of St. Louis and Escanaba. He didn't expect to be publicized or to receive such wide-spread recognition. He said, "It seems everyone I meet knows about my visit. It makes me feel warm and welcome."

It is a welcome well-deserved because Chris is a perceptive and candid young man with an earnest desire to share the heritage of his country with each person he confronts. But more than just an interesting speaker, he is an enthused listener, and that's what international understanding is all about.

SWISS STUDENT Christopher Kung, who began a two-week visit to Escanaba Thursday under an International Youth Exchange program sponsored by the Escanaba Lions Club and Lions International, points to his home city of Bern, Switzerland, on a map in the Daily Press office. Chris will be staying with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Manning and family, 1918 Park Ave., while in Escanaba. (Daily Press photo.)

Gov. Guy Raps Partisan Flavor Of Nixon Meet

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—North Dakota Gov. William L. Guy has accused President Nixon's staff of attempting to turn a nonpolitical meeting with five Midwestern governors into a partisan Republican gathering.

Guy was the only Democrat among the governors who met in Fargo with the President to discuss the problems of rural America.

Republicans denied Guy's allegations Friday.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said later in Salt Lake City, "The impression I got was that everyone who attended... thought the meeting was nonpartisan and extremely valuable."

Guy termed the official meeting "excellent" but he said Nixon aides had attempted to block his participation in the visit to Fargo, had slighted Sen. Quentin Burdick, D-N.D., by not inviting him and had slighted the governor's wife.

Guy said he was told the White House would handle announcement of the meeting.

"Two hours later," said the four-term governor, "the announcement was made jointly by Congressmen Kleppe and Andrews." Rep. Thomas Kleppe, Bloomington, Ind., will be administrator of the Phillips Home in Fayette, Mo.

Prior to working in the White River Council, Fisher had held posts in Sault Ste. Marie and Detroit, and has had 14½ years service in the Scout movement.

The Fisher's son, Michael, is attending Indian University and will remain in Bloomington.

Fisher is a graduate of the National Executive Institute and has been a Region 7 Pace-maker for five consecutive years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fisher are graduates from Escanaba High School.

Man, 52, Arrested For Nixon Threat

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Secret Service has arrested a 52-year-old man on charges of threatening the life of President Nixon.

John M. Woolf, an itinerant, was taken into custody Friday without resistance at his house trailer in Stockton, Calif., said Tom Hansen, Secret Service chief in San Francisco.

Hansen said agents found a 22-caliber rifle and four boxes of ammunition in Woolf's trailer home.

He said police at Healdsburg, Calif., received a report July 13 that Woolf had made an oral threat against the President's life.

Woolf was held without bail pending arraignment in Sacramento on a complaint filed with U.S. Commissioner Richard Goldsmith.

Plane Missing Over Lake Erie; Search Still On

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Searches continued over Lake Erie and the Ohio mainland Friday for a light plane believed to have been carrying a Texas insurance man and four other persons when it left Detroit Thursday morning.

The single-engine Piper Cherokee was owned by Air Rangers, Inc., of El Paso, Texas, and Texas sources said it left El Paso piloted by Gerald Wilchek 33, of that city, his wife, aunt and two children. The U.S. Coast Guard in Cleveland said Wilchek was believed accompanied by his wife and three children.

Federal Aviation Administration spokesmen said search efforts Friday afternoon were concentrated in an area extending from Mansfield in Central Ohio to Bellare in Belmont County on the central eastern edge of the state.

He said police at Healdsburg, Calif., received a report July 13 that Woolf had made an oral threat against the President's life.

The trail, linking Lake Michigan and Lake Superior, was used for centuries by the Indians, explorers, and pioneers.

Members of the Delta County and the Alger County historical societies and their friends will join in the meeting to be held on the trail itself, at the Haymeadow Campground in the Hiawatha National Forest, said Mrs. Clint Dunathan, Escanaba, president of the Delta County group.

Mrs. Doris Rodgers, president of the Alger County Historical Society, said that photos, maps and other materials relating to the northern section of the trail will be displayed. The trail ended at Munising and the old trading post on Grand Island.

Swiss Student Pleased By Escanaba Welcome

By PETE MITCHELL
Christopher Kung, foreign exchange student from Berne, Switzerland, arrived in Escanaba Thursday for a two-week visit as a part of the International Youth Exchange program sponsored by the Lion's Club.

Chris is a 19-year-old student interested in learning about the customs and way of life of Americans. He hopes to share his insight not only with his Swiss countrymen, but also to exchange ideas about Switzerland with Americans he encounters.

Chris will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Manning, 1918 Park Ave., and will be guided in his visit to Escanaba by Pat Manning. He hopes to participate in sporting and recreational activities as well as observe the industrial and technological advancements of the area. Sight-seeing trips will also be a part of this itinerary.

Keeshonds Top Dog Attraction At Wind Molen

By MRS. ALBERT WELDUM
ROCK — Two sisters from Grand Rapids have started a dog kennel just south of Rock on M-35. Bertie Johnson and Sarah Lawrence raise, sell, and show German Shepherds and a beautiful new dog to this area, a Keeshond.

The Keeshond is originally from Holland, where centuries ago it was used as a dog, guarding the many barges on the canals. The dogs usually have Dutch names, however, having no Dutch neighbors in the Rock area, they are finding it difficult to give the two week old pup captured non-sporting breed and one for best of breed. The adult Keeshond bitch took a trophy for best non-sporting adult. They also won several ribbons. There is no money awarded at dog shows.

The sisters took one of the color tours to the Upper Peninsula last fall and fell in love with the uncrowded peaceful Upper Peninsula. They bought the former Lillian Bailey home just south of Rock and named it "Wind Molen" kennels, meaning windmill in Dutch.

How did they become interested in raising and showing dogs? Mainly because they love animals. Sarah bought Bertie a German Shepherd pup for her birthday six years ago. Just for fun, they began entering dog shows.

Have Many Pets
 Sarah felt a German Shepherd was such a large dog and she wanted a dog smaller in stature. Upon seeing a Keeshond at a friends home she said, "that is the dog for me."

They now have three bitches and a dog in the German Shepherd breed and same in the Keeshond breed. They also have German Shepherd stud service available.

In addition to their dogs for breeding, they have acquired a few chickens, rabbits and an "orphan" German Shepherd, "Shadow," who they got from the county dog warden when a family left the dog with him after the dog became sick as the family was going from New York to California on a vacation.

Bertie hopes the family will claim the dog on their way back because the dog misses his master, she said.

Pickups, Trailers Showing Increase Across 'Big Mac'
ST. IGNACE (AP) — Cars with trailers and pickup trucks with campers have shown the greatest percentage increase in Mackinac Bridge crossings, reports Prentiss Brown, chairman of the bridge authority.

During the first six months of 1969, passenger cars made up more than 86 per cent of all bridge traffic, Brown said. The passenger car volume dropped to 76 per cent the first six months of this year.

Passenger cars with one-axle trailers grew in percentage from 3.3 per cent of the total to more than eight per cent. Brown said trailers were mostly of the house, baggage, boat and tent variety.

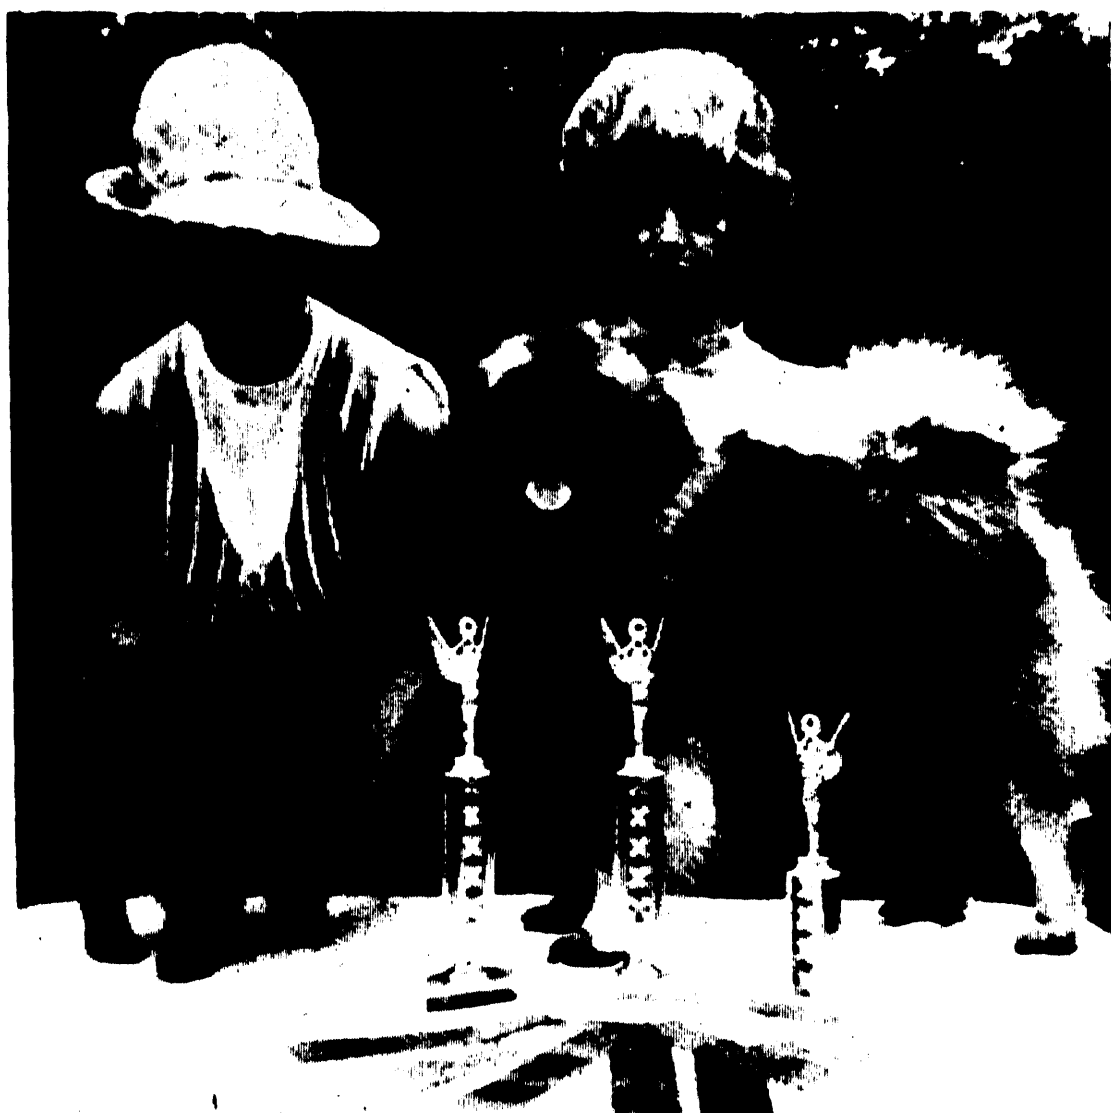

Pickup trucks comprised only 2.3 per cent of the traffic when the bridge was first opened. The trucks 12 years ago were mostly of the farm and commercial type.

This year, pickup trucks accounted for nearly eight per cent of the total traffic. These trucks were mostly used with camper units for use as recreational vehicles, Brown reported.

Milliken Signs 24 Bills

Altering Autometers Now Against Law In Michigan

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has signed two dozen bills into law, including one to forbid the altering of odometers on motor vehicles for sale or for lease.

The bill requires an affidavit from the vehicle's former owner attesting that the odometer had not been set back.

Another measure signed will permit the Department of Administration to sell the Cadillac Square Building in Detroit on approval by the State Administrative Board.

A third provides for a three-year expiration period for chauffeurs' licenses rather than the present one-year period. The license fee will be three times that of the present one-year license.

Other bills signed would: —Permit a county board of commissioners to have the option of establishing an office of county drain commissioner in the counties which do not have such a position.

—Permit property owners to appeal drain boards' decisions to circuit courts and allow a county to pledge full faith and credit on prompt payment of bonds or notices issues for a project.

—Permit creation and negotiation of expressed warranties in the sale of works of fine art.

—Amend the Theater Safety Act to require several changes concerning fire safety of theaters.

—Provide that civil jury cases will be tried by six persons rather than twelve.

—Permit permanent license plates to be assigned to any vehicle owned and operated by a nonprofit parents transportation group and to incorporated nonprofit youth organizations.

—Allow the insurance commissioner to grant an insurance company up to a year to restore compliance when an insurer fails to maintain compliance with the investment requirement section of the insurance code.

2 Members Added
 Add two members to the State Employees Retirement Board and permit certain non-civil service employees to join the state retirement fund before July 1, 1971.

—Require "do not pass" signs on the left side of a highway in especially hazardous areas.

—Provide that a licensed vehicle dealer will stipulate and agree that any legal process served against him may be served upon the secretary of state.

—Provide for a $25 annual fee

under the Motor Vehicle Installment Sales Act for each office of a bank licensed as a sales-financed company and make other amendments bringing the act into conformity with the Banking Code which was enacted in 1969.

Boiler Act Updated
 —Update the Boiler Act of 1965 to include pertinent areas omitted in the previous law.

—Permit a hospital, with a physician's recommendation, to detain a child until the next regular business day of the probable court when that child has been brought to a hospital for out-patient services so that the court may order further detention.

—Provide that a student borrower will be legally liable for repayment of any educational loans certified by an educational institution.

—Require school districts, cities, townships and villages holding elections to reimburse the county treasurer for costs incurred by the county board of canvassers.

—Permit the removal of books, records and files from any state or local official's office for conducting an audit.

Huber's Report On Campuses Not Set For Release
LANSING (AP) — Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, has announced the final report of his special committee to investigate colleges and universities will not be released until after the August primary.

"To release the report prior to the primary would cast a shadow of possible political motivation on the report," said Huber, who is opposing Mrs. Lenore Romney in a bid to become the Republican candidate for U.S. Senate.

Huber said the report, financed by $50,000 in state funds, will be written by a special eight-member committee. A lengthy, two-volume report detailing findings of the group which handled research for the committee was released and reported on earlier this year.

"Some have urged that the report be released and have pointed to a positive effect such a release would have on my candidacy," Huber said.

"I have rejected the idea out of hand," he declared. "I do not believe the report would be accepted objectively if it was released in the heat of a primary campaign."

Mrs. Romney To Visit City

LANSING — Lenore Romney, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, will campaign in Escanaba Tuesday.

Mrs. Romney, wife of the former Michigan governor, is scheduled to arrive at the Escanaba Municipal Airport at 10:30 p. m. Monday after a full day of campaigning in lower Michigan.

Tuesday she will greet employees of the Escanaba Paper Co. at the U. S. 2 and 41 entrance to the plant at 7:10 a. m., then return to the House of Ludington for an 8 o'clock breakfast with members of the news media. She is scheduled to visit senior citizens at the Bishop Noe Home at 8:50 a. m. before leaving by plane at 9:20 a. m. for Traverse City.

Escanaba will be her only Upper Peninsula stop on the tour.

Mrs. Romney is opposed for the GOP nomination by State Sen. Robert Huber of Detroit. Sen. Philip Hart is opposed for the Democratic nomination in the Aug. 4 primary.

Cereal Makers Defend Products

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cereal makers have defended their breakfast foods as nutritious and wholesome in the face of Senate testimony of a nutrition expert who said most cereals contribute little in good health.

Most leading dry cereal makers defended their products against the accusations of Robert B. Choate, 40, a Washington based citizen-lobbyist. Some major producers indicated they didn't know what he was talking about.

Choate appeared before the Senate consumer subcommittee armed with results of a study he made that showed 40 out of 80 types of cereals lacked enough nutritional value to rate as half a complete meal.

A spokesman for Kellogg Co. said "leading nutrition authorities in the nation just do not agree with Mr. Choate."

4 State Soldiers Killed In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four soldiers from Michigan were among 18 U.S. servicemen killed in recent action in Southeast Asia, the Defense Department reported Friday.

They included Army Sgt. Dennis R. Lewis, husband of Mrs. Linda B. Lewis of Center Line; Spec. 5 Thomas A. Pardo, son of Mrs. Margaret A. Pardo, of Detroit; Spec. 4 Kenneth J. Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald K. Simmons of Muskegon; and Pfc. Randall T. Baer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Baer of Detroit.

Watercraft Blessing Program Completed

MENOMINEE — Festivities around The Blessing of the Watercraft begin Friday, July 31, and end Sunday night. Friday night, the Northernaires, crack drum & bugles corps, will perform at Great Lakes Memorial Marina, at 6, with a dance to follow at 8.

The Midwest Flying Scot sail races begin at 9 a. m. Saturday. At 5 p. m., the Northern Lights perform at the Marina, and area Square Dances take over at 8 p. m. A Venetian parade is scheduled at the Marina during the evening.

The traditional parade starts from the St. Joseph's-Lloyd Hospital area at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, with the blessing of the boats by the Most Rev. Bishop Charles A. Salatkia at about 3:30.

"Drums of the North," the annual bugle corps competition hosted by the Menominee Northernaires, tops off the day, at Blesch Stadium at 7 p. m.

Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Assembly 646 has again invited other units to join in the parade, the K. of C. Open House, and the general enjoyment.

At the newly developed River Park, just east of the Interstate Bridge, visitors may see the "Mystery Ship," raised intact from the bottom of Green Bay, last year — 105 years after it sank.

Fire Destroys 3 Ludington Sites; Two Boys, 8, Held

LUDINGTON (AP) — Two eight-year-old boys were scheduled to be taken into probate court today in connection with a fire that destroyed three Ludington businesses Friday, authorities said.

Witnesses said two boys were seen tossing matches into the basement of a building, destroyed by the blaze.

Fire Chief Harry Zimkowski said soon after the blaze began that arson was suspected. Firemen sealed off four square blocks in the downtown area until mopping up operations were completed.

Damage was estimated to amount to at least $500,000, said Bob Palmquist, owner of the building.

The blaze heavily damaged Palmquist's business, the Fort Ludington, and two others, Trader Walt's and Party Port. The three were a combination gift shop, liquor and sporting goods store.

All five of Ludington's fire trucks and 30 volunteer firemen battled the blaze.

Student Offices On U-M Campus 'Search-Proof'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University officials and student leaders refused Friday to allow FBI agents to search two offices of student organizations.

The agents said they were searching for signal flags and a celestial globe stolen from the Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) building in May, university officials said.

Michael Radock, vice president for university relations, said that the agents were told to either obtain a search warrant or to get permission from the student organizations. He said the student representatives of the Student Government Council refused the FBI request.

Arwin had previously been suspicious of the drawing, noting "Picasso would never draw such tentative lines. His lines are very definite, not so shadowy."

Nicolas said that his father had made a $600 loan to a relative in the late 1960s and got the drawing, a ring and a watch as security. He said later the ring and watch were returned to the original owner, but that he kept the drawing as part of his father's estate settlement.

The teacher said he thought he had "something very valuable, then I hit bottom completely, and I'm back up in the middle."

Mayor Muzzled In Police Feud

IRON MOUNTAIN — The Iron Mountain police and fire commission has ordered Mayor Philip Rahoi to cease his involvement in the administrative affairs of the city's police department.

Commission members Tim Elmer and Frank Pipp directed Rahoi to "let the police chief and sergeant run their department." The mayor is the remaining member of the three-man commission.

Police Chief A. J. Schupp told the commission that the mayor had forced him to sign a list of recommendations for cutting over time in the department. Rahoi denied Schupp's claim.

"I want you to tell this man (Rahoi) to leave me alone and let Sparpana (Sgt. Vance Sparpana) and me handle it," Schupp asked the commission.

Rahoi pointed out that he has been forced to settle several grievances from police department personnel since becoming mayor.

Questioned by Elmer as to how many grievances had been filed in the department before Rahoi took office, Chief Schupp said none ever were submitted.

Rahoi agreed to stay out of the administrative functions of the police department but warned Schupp that "I'm going to be tough on you if it costs us money." The mayor was referring to overtime being paid police officers.

Pipp told Rahoi that he was causing dissension within the department. He (Pipp) noted that when he was police chief, he told the mayors to stay out of the administrative affairs of his department.

Rahoi told the commission that he has had problems concerning the union contract with the police officers and declared that "my grandson was arrested by the police in spite." The incident he was referring to took place about a year ago.

Chief Schupp also told the commission that he needs two more men in the police department to bring the force up to adequate strength. One officer submitted his resignation from the department earlier this week.

Fake Picasso Painting Hits Detroit Scene

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit high school teacher said he's found how to make something valuable out of a fake Picasso pen-and-ink drawing. He said he got the Spanish artist to write the French word "faux" on the forgery.

Pablo Picasso, the artist who now lives near Paris, scribbled "Faux," the French word for false and also put an "X" over the forged signature, said Spiros Nicholas, teacher at Detroit Southeastern High School.

The teacher said it now could be worth from $3,000 to $8,000 as a novelty.

Nicholas said he inherited the drawing of a court jester from his late father four years ago and recently tried to get it verified as an authentic Picasso.

He said Detroit art dealer Les Arwin sent it to Picasso's agent in France and that Madame Louise Leiris, sister-in-law of the agent, took it to the 89-year-old Picasso, who denounced it.

The forgery, with Picasso's scrawling was then returned by mail to Arwin, with a letter telling about the incident, said Nicholas.

Arwin had previously been suspicious of the drawing, noting "Picasso would never draw such tentative lines. His lines are very definite, not so shadowy."

Nicholas said that his father had made a $600 loan to a relative in the late 1950s and got the drawing, a ring and a watch as security. He said later the ring and watch were returned to the original owner, but that he kept the drawing as part of his father's estate settlement.

Mead Meeting

When the Board of Directors of The Mead Corp. was in town this week, James W. McSwiney of Dayton, Ohio, president and chief executive officer, told a group of Delta County citizens at a luncheon meeting that Mead schedules two or three of its eight board meetings every year in "locations which have special significance for the company because of what is going on there."

In government, the principle is known as "taking the government to the people." The Escanaba Area Board of Education applies that principle by meeting in various elementary schools around the district. The Delta County Board of Commissioners applies it by holding meetings in Rock, Garden, Gladstone and in other sites around the county away from Escanaba, the county seat and normal meeting place.

To run a road show isn't always practical because of the paper problems that develop in carting files and records around the countryside or leaving them in the regular boardroom and then discovering that they're needed, but the good will established in getting out with the constituents is well worth the inconvenience. With governing units, experience has proved, people from outlying districts won't often drive the 30 or 40 miles to a meeting in Escanaba, but they'll turn out in good numbers if the meeting is in their own back yard.

With a corporation board, the purpose is comparable.

McSwiney of Mead pointed out that as the company has grown it has become quite difficult for the directors to have close association with the communities of operation, but that by scheduling meetings in a few of those communities each year "it gives us a better perspective for the decisions we must make."

McSwiney may have overstated his case somewhat for on-the-site board meetings as obviously a corporation's Board of Directors does not make too many local decisions, but rather must concern itself with the overall corporate policy. And most of the local decisions necessarily rest with the working management of the company.

But nevertheless, it was an occasion the community should welcome and hope that in future years the board will return to Escanaba.

The Mead Corp. is a big corporation. Sales in the first six months of 1970 were in excess of a half billion dollars. And as the Publishing Papers Center begins to reach the production anticipated Escanaba is going to be a growing part of that sales picture.

With that and the $120 million development cost in mind, the company directors should know the community, know its people and know the property. The community should know Mead and what better way than through informal and for-profit contacts with the people who are the company.

McSwiney said Mead has had a relationship with Escanaba that goes back more than 50 years, a relationship which the company values highly. The community has equally high esteem for Mead and for what it has provided for the area.

More sessions like the board meeting in Escanaba this week can only serve to cement that relationship.

Peninsula Potpourri

Grand Opening of the Mystery Ship Sea-port in Menominee River Park has been scheduled for July 29, the first anniversary of the raising of the century-old schooner.

One of the last two ancient charcoal kilns along the Carp River in Marquette has collapsed. City officials believe the beehive-shaped kiln, built nearly a century ago to provide charcoal for the Carp River Furnace, may have caved in during a heavy rainstorm. The kiln that was reduced to rubble had been reinforced recently by city crews. Still standing is the kiln not reinforced.

Aldermen in Iron Mountain are serious about their business. When a quorum of seven failed to show up recently for a special meeting, the six members present ordered the police department to round up the others. All six missing members eventually showed up, although two threatened to resign after being ordered to report for the meeting.

Clarence B. Forslund of Ironwood, a member of the Gogebic Board of Trustees for the past four years, was elected chairman of the board.

The Marquette County Board of Commissioners has created a County Housing Commission to pave the way for rural areas in the county to qualify for federal housing programs.

Knox Jamison, Lansing, land appraiser for the Department of Natural Resources, has retired after 38 years with the department. He formerly was manager of the Porcupine Mountains State Park.

The Menominee County Board of Commissioners voted 14 to 1 to oppose establishment by the state and federal governments of the proposed Hayward Lake Gorge Refuge. The resolution against the plan pointed out that creation of the refuge would remove more private land from the tax rolls and a further burden to taxpayers and that the refuge area includes many prime farms which would result in a further economic loss estimated at $750,000 a year.

Residents of Gogebic and Ontonagon Counties will vote on a one-mill levy for vocational education Aug. 4. This would allow area youths to enroll in programs such as welding, machine shop, drafting, electronics, building trades, secretarial skills, office occupations, cooking and waitress training, to name a few. Actual cost to the average taxpayer will be about $5 per year, supporters of the proposal said. The funds raised would be distributed to schools in the Gogebic-Ontonagon Intermediate School district for implementation of the programs.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION

It's Up To Each One To Decide To Be Free

By DOUG SJOQUIST

Energy is free. It moves in any direction or all directions from a source.

Energy can change; form can change; direction can change; life can change. Life is change. The dance of energy is the passage of time-is history-is the present—and will be going on in the future. All form is energy; everything we see, hear, touch, or think is energy.

That computer we call a brain is a delicate human organ that allows us to tap the energy flow we call mind. Mind is the source and is all forms as energy takes (which we experience on the highest level as ourselves).

And mind is free.

And we are born free a mind—as the planet Earth is free. That which we call mind is me, is you, is free. Einstein called it a "Unified Field Theory" (of energy). According to this theory, all energy is the manifestation of the same source of energy.

Myself, yourself, ourselves are matter.

Matter is energy; the infinite universe is energy. Energy is the lowest breakdown of matter. We are energy, we are the infinite universe. We are materialized energy moving about in the infinite universe on another piece of materialized energy, the planet Earth.

Myself, yourself, ourselves are free and the planet Earth is our birth right. Earth belongs to all of us. It is our mother, constantly giving anything we ask her.

What have they done to the earth?

What have they done to our fair sister?

Ravaged and plundered And ripped her and bit her Stuck her with knives In the side of the dawn And tied her with fences And dragged her down.

Jim Morrison

A huge portion of energy on this planet is used to counter the process of nature. By covering it up. Someday people will realize that 5,000 people who die in our cities each year die of lung trouble caused by the trapped air hung above their cities.

Free is more than just a word or concept, it is a style of life which should be practiced by men and women, living and working joyously together in families and raising free children in a free healthy atmosphere.

The family should no longer be limited to just father-mother-son-daughter relationships. It should extend to include the family of man. Earth belongs to all of us. We are one with the planet. We are the infinite universe. We are free as energy is free.

People of this planet, the time has come for each and every one of us to decide whether we are going to be the problem or whether we are going to be the solution. We can and must live, work, act and interact freely and joyously together as one family; the family of man. Channel all our energy into thought rather than violence, animosity and harsh criticism.

The people of today are divided, separated and enslaved. Look around people at your pettiness. Your pettiness! You tend to judge other people by the standards of judgment in your own culture and way of life.

How many times have you heard niger, whitey, hippy, commie, spik, mick, dago, degenerate, pinko, etc.? The separation of people. The division of the family of mankind. The enslavement of your fellow man!

We must come together people. In order to get rid and free us of all the old bad forms that divide, separate, and enslave, we must begin at the highest level.

That highest level is not the governmental, institutional, organizational level. That is the lowest level of consciousness and of human relationships; the highest level is us—each one of us.

We must work together to recognize and understand each other's problem. But most of all we must throw away the ethnocentrism found in each one of us. Throw away the judgment, the prejudices, the hatred. We are one. The jailer the jailed are one, the slayer the slain are one, the buyer-seller-sold are one.

Only you can free you. No government is going to issue an edict setting you free. Mind is energy, is man, is matter, and is free as love is free and the planet Earth is free. It is up to you to make it so. The whole world is a sear.

Who could ever, ever, ever, ask for more?

Directors' Names Mean Little To Good Investor

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — A highly successful investor in about 15 corporations was describing the process of making a sound decision when he was interrupted by a listener.

"Don't you attempt to judge a company's investment merits by reviewing its list of directors?" the listener asked. "Never," the investor shorted. "They don't mean a thing. Maybe I'd look at how many shares they owned because then I'd know something about their commitment. But never just the list of names. They're only window dressing."

To him, boards too often are meaningless. He, at least, has made up his mind, but millions of other investors today are growing more confused about the function and responsibilities of directors.

You can look for a lot more discussion of this touchy subject, especially in Washington, but that doesn't insure any action. Investors have wondered and worried for years and still the matter is cloudy.

The latest reason for reopening the discussion is the Penn Central Transportation debacle, a $2.8 billion enterprise now being reorganized under the bankruptcy laws.

Some directors of that corporation, all highly respected in business circles, revealed they knew little about the precarious financial position of the railroad until, in effect, there was little to do but resign.

Nevertheless, the board of any corporation is theoretically where all the power resides. It can delegate this power and authority to management, but unless the rules have changed, it is accountable to stockholders for that management.

This responsibility has, however, become less clear in many instances.

In some corporations the board's function is little more than ceremonial. Members attend meetings merely to sanction the agenda placed before them by management. Sometimes there isn't time for an intelligent evaluation.

In some companies the boards are made up very heavily of insiders, men and women who already occupy executive jobs with the company and who therefore are hardly objective critics of performance.

Some boards are poorly balanced, either all young or all old, and often without the proper representation of financial authorities—men and women who can understand today's incredibly complex financial statements.

Opening lead—three of clubs. A defender's approach to the play is radically different from declarer's approach to the play.

As declarer, you have the advantage of knowing exactly which high cards your side has and which high cards you are missing. You have a much firmer grip on which suits to exploit, which dangers to avoid, and how to capitalize on your values.

A defender can only feel his way, seeing just a portion of his side's resources and a portion of declarer's. He has the bidding to go by, the interpretation he can place upon plays already made and, last but not least, his own ingenuity.

Despite the inherent difficulties, a shrewd defender can generally give a good account of himself. It is by no means rare for him to play his cards, hand after hand, without letting any tricks escape at all.

All of which leads us to the problem faced by East after he won the club lead and had to decide what to play at trick two. He chose the queen of hearts, admittedly an unusual play, but nonetheless the proper play.

If South covered with the king, East's A-10 would constitute a tenace over dummy's J-9 and bring about declarer's defeat whenever West gained the lead with a diamond and returned a heart. And if South ducked the queen, the same result could be obtained by East's continuing with a low heart.

How can East recognize the deadly effect of the queen of hearts? The answer is that he cannot be certain of it, but he must make the play nevertheless.

Since his own hand and dummy's contain 20 points and declarer has 16 to 18, West must have 2 to 4 points. The contract is unbeatable unless West has an entry card, so East proceeds on the basis that West has it.

A low heart play at trick two would not suffice. It must be specifically the queen.

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's new mandatory hunter safety program for youngsters in the 12-16 age bracket has reached some 10,000 young people so far this year, reports Louis Gray, in charge of the program. The department of Natural Resources is offering a four-hour course of instruction for young hunters.

Tonsilectomy May Be Only Way Out

Dear Ann Landers: Our eight-year-old child missed 44 days of school last semester because of sore throats and colds. The pediatrician suggested we have her tonsils removed. My sister-in-law told my husband that removing tonsils is old-fashioned and good doctors don't do it anymore. It burns me up that he thinks her word is better than a pediatrician's.

Today the child has another sore throat and is in bed with a fever. I told my husband I want to discuss a tonsilectomy. He said his sister knows what she is talking about—and that doctors sometimes suggest surgery because of the money. I think it is rotten of my sister-in-law to make this kind of trouble in our family. Are tonsilectomies out of date?—Saginaw Argument

Dear Saginaw: Thirty years ago tonsilectomies were always routine. There are fewer tonsilectomies today because drugs have been discovered to control many infections formerly associated with tonsils. But in some instances tonsilectomies still are indicated.

Unless your sister-in-law is a physician I suggest that your husband not accept her diagnosis. A second physician can be consulted if your husband does not have confidence in the pediatrician.

Dear Ann Landers: Frequently you print letters from retired folks. Perhaps you'd like to know how retirement looks to someone who lives in Miami and has had an opportunity to observe at close range.

Retired men are all members of the "Honeydew Club." It's "Honeydew" because that Honey, drive me to the beauty parlor. Honey, take out the garbage.

While at the garbage, Mr. Retired meets another member of the Honeydew Club who sold his company to a conglomerate last year for $15,000,000.

And, of course, there's the daily ritual of driving to the supermarket—where he again encounters the big millionaire from the garbage. He is measuring the holes in the doughnuts. His final purchase will be the six doughnuts with the smallest holes. It's wonderful, the things a person can do when he has the time.

So tell your readers to retire in Florida, Ann. The weather is wonderful and people live longer down here. It sure beats freezing to death up North so the grandchildren can inherit a load of dough and be bums.—Herb

Dear Herb: Thanks for the day-brightener. Is there much gin rummy and TV down there?

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in your reply to the woman who wanted to know if alcohol helped or hindered the male's ability to perform sexually. Your answer was right on, Ann, but Shakespeare said it better.

Act II, Scene III Macbeth
Porter: Faith, sir, we were carousing till the second cock; and drink, sir, is a great provoker of three things.

Macduff: What three things does drink especially provoke?
Porter: Nose—painting, sleep and urine.

Macbeth: And lechery?

Porter: Lechery, sir, it provokes the desire but it takes away the performance.

Too much drink persuades him and disheartens him.—W. C. Buff in K. C.

Dear Buff: Shakespeare said everything better. Thanks for the research.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze And You—For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Lawrence Farrell won the "Hall" prize.

The temperature reached 85 degrees in Escanaba to establish a new maximum temperature of the season and exceeded by one degree the previous maximum, which was recorded on June 24. The heat was accompanied by exceptionally high humidity, 75 per cent, and shortly before five o'clock rainfall provided tempering relief.

Wrinkle Remover Featured At Housewares Show

CHICAGO (AP) — Housewares, beauty and grooming aids and novelties on display at two housewares shows this week emphasize new variations on an old theme-making things easier for the housewife.

A cheese-nut-spice grater from Vernon Products, Inc. of Mount Vernon, N.Y., operates with a turn of the wrist, and its makers promise that fingers need never come in contact with the cutting edge.

An electric wrinkle remover heats ordinary tap water to steam and takes out the creases in drapes, curtains, slipcovers, and clothing. Its manufacturer, General Electric, calls it a traveling valet. A special plastic face keeps the hand-size unit from scorching or burning fabrics.

A San Dimas, Calif., firm, Creative Decorative Co., Inc., is showing a self-adhesive burp covering to brighten lamp shades, waste cans and kitchen cabinet doors.

For the children, Clacieware Inc. of Clinton, Conn., offers a dishwasher-safe plastic "slush mug." A nonoxic refrigerating capsule is activated by the freezer section of the refrigerator and turns soft drinks into slush that can be eaten with a spoon.

A home alarm lock that can be installed on any door sounds a buzzer alarm if an intruder tampers with the attached chain lock. The alarm, manufactured by Leigh Products, Inc. of Coopersville, Mich., runs on two midsize batteries.

Also on display is a plastic rolling pin which prevents pastries from sticking when it is filled with cold water or ice. It was created by Flambeau Plastics Corp. of Bensenville, Ill. S. S. Lewis, a division of Smith Corona Machines Corp., showed a canister vacuum cleaner with lift-off component parts for do-it-yourself repair service.

A water filter designed with antipollution in mind attaches to the faucet and removes impurities, dirt, detergents and odors from tap water. A product of Bentley Gifts, Inc., of Baltimore, Md., the filter is charged with activated charcoal.

For the housewife with her arms full of bundles, Frankford Umbrella Manufacturing Co. of Philadelphia introduced an umbrella that opens and closes at a squeeze of the handle.

The shows, staged by manufacturers for buyers for retail outlets, feature more than 2,300 exhibits and 300,000 products.

Grill That Chicken Outdoors

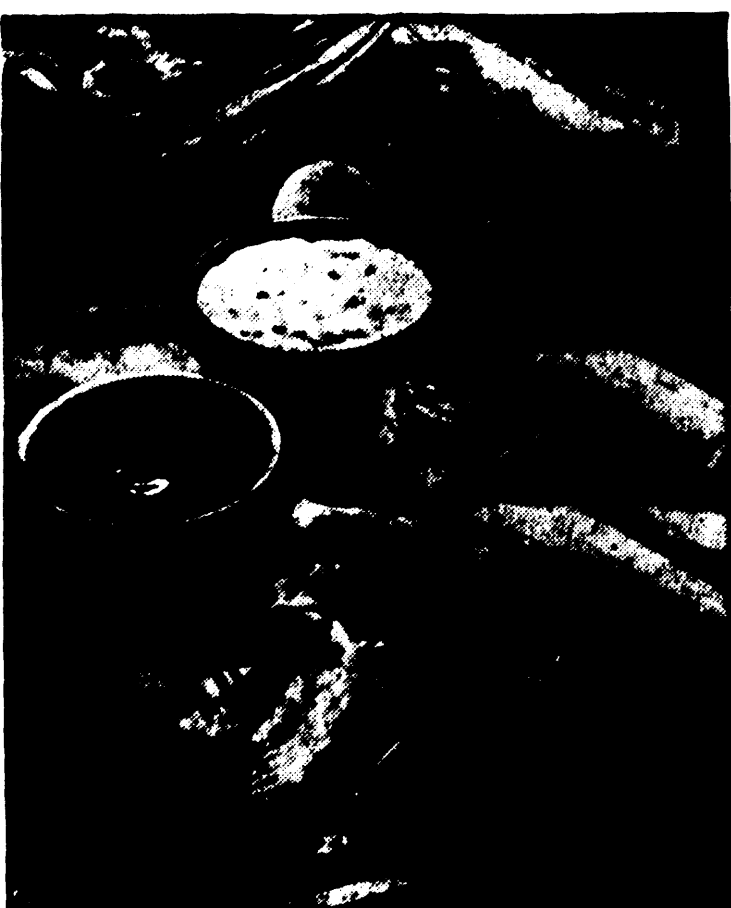

Chicken, cut in quarters, is widely available in supermarkets. The quarters are just right for cooking on the outdoor grill. But before you do so you may want to do a little further preparation by cutting through — but not severing — joints. With a heavy sharp knife this is easy for a cook to accomplish.

Grilling chicken outdoors usually calls for a thin sauce to be brushed on the birds as they cook. The following recipe suggests such a sauce. In addition there's an excellent Cranberry Dip to serve hot with the chicken when it's ready to eat. All our tasters liked the Dip, and we think you will, too.

Grilled Chicken With Cranberry Dip

2 broiler-fryer chickens (2½ to 3 pounds, quartered)
¼ cup (½ of a quarter-pound stick) butter
½ cup cranberry juice cocktail
1½ small onion, peeled and finely grated (pulp and juice)
1 tablespoon soy sauce
Cranberry Dip, see recipe
Wash and clean the chickens and dry on paper toweling.
In a small saucepan over low heat, melt the butter, stir in the cranberry juice cocktail, onion and soy sauce.
Brush the butter mixture over all surfaces of the chicken.
Place chicken on a greased grill about 8 inches above gray coals; broil, turning every five minutes or so and brushing with butter mixture, until browned and tender — 20 to 30 minutes on each side.
Serve with Cranberry Dip. Makes 8 servings.

Cranberry Dip
1 cup catchup
¼ cup whole cranberry sauce
1 tablespoon bottled horseradish
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Juice of ½ lemon (about 1½ tablespoons)
Into a small saucepan turn

GRILLED CHICKEN — Cook it over charcoal and serve with a delicious Cranberry Dip.

all the ingredients. Heat gently until mixture bubbles. Serve hot. Makes about 1½ cups.
Note: If any of the Dip is leftover, store in refrigerator and serve cold as a condiment for another dish.

Preparing Chicken For Grill
Before grilling chicken quarters you may wish to prepare them this way:
Leave wing tips on or cut them off with a heavy sharp knife.

Cut through the joint that attaches the wing to the breast, but do not sever.

Cut through the joint that attaches the drumstick to the thigh, but do not sever.

Preparing chicken this way allows the quarters to be stretched out and grilled evenly; it also makes eating the chicken easy to manage.

Dear Folks:

Here's a little tip for those of you who have made the mistake of not putting your roast on time and find that it is not done when you need it.

This especially works for a rolled roast, which I find much cheaper in the long run because they do not contain a batch of fat and bone. Did you know that you could cut these roasts in half and they would cook faster?

If you have cooked yours and find it raw in the center (which often happens when you take a roast out of the deep freezer and do not let it completely thaw out before cooking it), then take your sharpest knife and cut through the middle, turning both halves with the ends down and the cut side up toward the top of the oven. The raw or partially frozen part will cook perfectly in about forty-five minutes.

And for those of you who like a raw, center cut of beef, cook it partially frozen! Specially if you've got somebody in your home who likes meat well-done or overdone. Serve them the butt-end slices. Those who like it medium, take the next cut; the raw meat lovers serve from the center.

At one party I did learn that you could cut any roast in half and just cook one longer than the other. Those who like it rare can slice from one and those who like it well-done use the other roast. Whichever roast goes the faster, just change the plates and watch it all evaporate.

Letter Of Thought

Dear Heloise:
Thought I would share a few words of wisdom (as I call it) with your readers:

If you wish others to speak well of you, don't do it yourself!

Aloise

Dear Heloise:

We were bored with a drab grey-green linoleum kitchen floor. So we went out and bought a couple of yards of adhesive-backed paper printed with large colorful flowers, cut out the flowers and spaced them in a pleasing pattern over the linoleum floor.

In spite of months of scuffing, they are bright and colorful.

The Joneses

Dear Heloise:

I read in your column about using drapery hooks to hang small pictures on textured walls.

And I wondered if anyone would be interested in my solution to that problem?

Just use straight pins. Pound them in just as you would a nail. You'll be amazed at how much weight they will hold. And even better still, it will leave no unsightly hole when removed.

And suppose you can't remove them, they don't show when left!

Try it!
I just wish the lady from whom I bought this lovely home had known about them.

Unarmed Authorities Answer To Unrest?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Yale psychology professor has told a White House panel the way to end killings on American campuses is to take "murderous weapons out of the hands of civil authorities."

Dr. Kenneth Keniston, psychology professor at Yale Medical School, acknowledged students themselves initiated the "insane tactic" of violence. "But we count blooded heads, they are students' heads," he said.

Keniston spoke at length Friday before the last in a series of Washington hearings by the President's Commission on Campus Unrest.

His testimony contrasted with that of Dr. Edward Teller, nuclear weapons pioneer, who asserted that unabated student protests could weaken national defense and invite a foreign takeover in 20 years.

Teller complained that "indoctrinated" young people "will not take a defense-related job," and threaten to force defense research out of the universities.

Teller, a physics professor at the University of California, advocated use of "armed forces" to prevent students from closing down schools or "converting them into political pressure groups."

But Keniston said lethal weapons were not necessary in controlling student disorder, and pointed to the success of soft-spoken New Haven Police Chief James Ahern, a commission member.

Touching on Teller's testimony, Keniston said it was morally wrong for universities to be engaged in defense research, except in times of declared war.

David A. Keene, a Wisconsin law student who heads the conservative Young Americans for Freedom, pronounced campus violence the result of "administrative failures, faculty timidity or else indifference to responsibility."

American Held By E. Germans

BERLIN (AP) — An American and a Briton jailed in Communist East Berlin for allegedly distributing "fascist" propaganda have not yet been charged, an informed source said Friday. A U.S. spokesman confirmed that Frank King, 24, had been arrested July 7 and identified him as a former University of Michigan Medical students. The spokesman said he did not know King's home address, nor did he know if King was a former military policeman in the Air Force.

The official East German news agency ADN disclosed July 10 that King and Michael Woodbridge of England were "caught in the act" while distributing leaflets and smearing slogans. ADN said King was a former "Air policeman" and that the leaflets came from the American Nazi party.

The two men are being held for distribution propaganda and anti-state agitation. The informed source also disclosed that two American nurses, tentatively identified as Mary Young and Lisa Ash, were arrested earlier this week by the East Germans but were released Friday night.

The source said they were seized for taking pictures, apparently of border areas. A U.S. spokesman confirmed the case. He said he had no further identity of the nurses but that they were apprehended on the way from Prague at the Czechoslovak-East German border.

Bugliosi told the jury that many witnesses will testify to Manson's beliefs because "Manson's philosophies are so strange and so bizarre that if you heard them from the lips of only one person, you probably wouldn't believe it."

Father On Stand
First on the stand was Miss Tate's father, retired Army Lt. Col. Paul J. Tate. He identified pictures of his daughter and said he last saw her at her home in July 1969.

Witness Parent, father of Steven Parent, 18, killed at the Tate home after visiting the caretaker, identified his son's picture and said the boy's hobby was tinkering with stereo sets.

Witness Chapman, the maid who found the bodies at the Tate house appeared near tears as she said Miss Tate was eight months pregnant and was having the maid's room converted into a nursery. She testified that she had washed the front door and master bedroom door earlier on the day of the murders. Police have said fingerprints of defendants were found on both doors.

Heard Dogs Barking
William Garretson, 20, of Lancaster, Ohio, the caretaker at the Tate home, testified that he spent the murder night in the guest house but heard only the barking of dogs, which was normal. He told of Parent's brief visit and departure at midnight or a little later.

On Aug. 9, at 10:30 a.m., Garretson said, he was awakened by a barking dog and, "I looked up and there was a policeman pointing a rifle. Then another came, and another one broke down the door and Christopher (a dog) bit him on the leg."

He added: "I asked what was wrong. They told me to shut up, they'd show me . . . I was shown two bodies on the lawn."

Israeli Politicians Told To Okay Peace Plan

TEL AVIV (AP) — Political figures in Israel called on the government today to accept the U.S. Middle East peace proposals in the wake of Egypt's assent but they cautioned against a hasty reply.

In a series of radio interviews, Israeli politicians warned that the nation must not allow itself to become isolated in the diplomatic arena.

But they advised Prime Minister Golda Meir's coalition regime to take time in framing its response to the Washington proposal.

Israel Galili, a close adviser to Mrs. Meir, declared Egypt's acceptance of the U.S. plan was "an attempt to prevent Israel from getting the arms necessary for its defense."

In Cairo, President Gamal Abdel Nasser said his acceptance was a tactic to keep Israel from obtaining additional arms.

Two members of the Israeli parliament, who stand on opposite sides of the political fence, agreed on the need to accept the proposals, despite Israel's fear that a limited cease-fire—one of the plans major elements—would allow Nasser to strengthen his position along the Suez Canal prior to renewing the battle.

Avraham Offer, a dove, said the cease-fire should be accepted on condition that proper international supervision could be activated to guard against such a buildup.

Shmuel Tamir, a hawk, said Israel should agree on condition that the Russians move their thousands of troops and military advisers out of Egypt.

The Cabinet meets Sunday to consider the situation. Observers feel that the coalition make-up of Mrs. Meir's government will be put to a severe test in answering the Soviet and Egyptian challenge.

Ford 'Shocked' At UAW's Plan On Insurance

DETROIT (AP)—A Ford Motor Co. spokesman termed as "immoderate" and "overwhelming" a list of demands made Friday by the United Auto Workers for new contract improvements in company-paid health insurance.

Sidney McKenna, Ford's director of labor affairs, said the union's demands indicated "inattention to our often repeated concern" with mounting cost of Blue Shield-Blue Cross and sick and accident insurance.

The Ford executive stopped short, however, of insisting workers should pick up a part of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield costs, as they did prior to the company's taking over the full shot in 1964.

Both General Motors and Chrysler, where new contract negotiations also concluded their first full week of work, indicated previously they wanted workers to share costs again. The union said there it would fight any such move.

The suggestions came at GM and Chrysler as the companies proposed changes they would like to see in new contracts. Ford is to make its presentation on these next Tuesday. It is expected then to parallel to GM's and Chrysler's proposals.

The UAW also proposed at Ford, as it had previously to other members of the Big Three a return to an unlimited cost-of-living wage escalator.

McKenna said he told the union, that while he saw no evidence price levels are going to stabilize in the near future, he didn't see the necessity "of leaving the formula we now have," which limits the escalator to an annual gain of eight cents hourly.

Confident Levin Runs Against Gov. Milliken

BY DAVE ANDREWS

Sander Levin, Democratic candidate for governor, is a little bit like Gov. William Milliken although they belong to opposing political faiths.

Milliken, a Republican, is seeking his first elected term as Michigan's chief executive and with the Aug. 4 primary less than two weeks away is continuing to ignore his opponent, Howell publisher James C. Turner.

Levin, a Democrat, also is seeking the governor's office and is ignoring his three primary opponents—Rep. George F. Montgomery of Detroit, Macomb County Prosecutor George Parris an East Lansing attorney and former Democratic Party standard bearer Zoltan Ferency.

Instead, he's campaigning already against Gov. Milliken, confident that he'll win the nomination.

Hits Milliken

The 38-year-old Levin visited Escanaba for the second time of his campaign Friday, voiced optimism about the primary—"I'll be back here before November"—and tied into Gov. Milliken during a meeting with Democratic Party officials at a House of Ludington coffee break.

He blasted what he termed the "trail of broken promises" Gov. Milliken has cut across the Upper Peninsula during his term in office.

"The governor promised to appoint a special assistant for the U. P.," said Levin. "Instead, he created something called the Legislative-Executive Council, essentially a group of legislators that already have access to the governor."

Sander Levin

Roads Still Unfit

"On March 29, 1969," Levin continued, "the governor promised that the state would concentrate on development of business, industry, tourism and recreation in the Upper Peninsula. The result was supposed to be new jobs, but instead the unemployment rate has gone up until now there are communities in the Upper Peninsula where 20 per cent of the work force is looking for jobs."

"On that same day in March, 1969, the governor promised attention to broader problems—highways, for example. But the condition of U. P. roads is still such that many are not fit for local use, let alone being able to handle commercial and tourist traffic."

"These are not easy problems to deal with," Levin emphasized, "but they are problems that must be dealt with—and dealt with now—if the Upper Peninsula is to be a healthy part of the Michigan economy. These are not problems to be solved with empty promises."

No "Patronizing"

Levin said that if elected governor he would make no "patronizing promises to the U. P." but will get programs moving "that will help the entire state and the Upper Peninsula will get its fair share of those programs."

He proposed development of vocational-technical education centers on a regional basis "to be constructed and equipped with massive outlays of state aid."

He also said his administration would include appointees from the Upper Peninsula "who know its problems."

"I won't need special commissions and committees to provide another endless round of reports on the problems of the U. P.," he said.

Levin flew to Marquette from Escanaba, then was scheduled to return to lower Michigan to continue his campaign.

The oldest surviving bridge in the world is the slab stone single arch bridge over the River Meles in Smyrna, now Izmir, Turkey. It dates from about 850 B.C.

Confident Levin Runs Against Gov. Milliken

BY DAVE ANDREWS

Sander Levin, Democratic candidate for governor, is a little bit like Gov. William Milliken although they belong to opposing political faiths.

Milliken, a Republican, is seeking his first elected term as Michigan's chief executive and with the Aug. 4 primary less than two weeks away is continuing to ignore his opponent, Howell publisher James C. Turner.

Levin, a Democrat, also is seeking the governor's office and is ignoring his three primary opponents—Rep. George F. Montgomery of Detroit, Macomb County Prosecutor George Parris an East Lansing attorney and former Democratic Party standard bearer Zoltan Ferency.

Instead, he's campaigning already against Gov. Milliken, confident that he'll win the nomination.

Hits Milliken

The 38-year-old Levin visited Escanaba for the second time of his campaign Friday, voiced optimism about the primary—"I'll be back here before November"—and tied into Gov. Milliken during a meeting with Democratic Party officials at a House of Ludington coffee break.

He blasted what he termed the "trail of broken promises Gov. Milliken has cut across the Upper Peninsula during his term in office."

"The governor promised to appoint a special assistant for the U. P.," said Levin. "Instead, he created something called the Legislative-Exective Council, essentially a group of legislators that already have access to the governor."

Sander Levin

Roads Still Unfit

"On March 29, 1969," Levin continued, "the governor promised that the state would concentrate on development of business, industry, tourism and recreation in the Upper Peninsula. The result was supposed to be new jobs, but instead the unemployment rate has gone up until now there are communities in the Upper Peninsula where 20 per cent of the work force is looking for jobs."

"On that same day in March, 1969, the governor promised attention to broader problems—highways, for example. But the condition of U. P. roads is still such that many are not fit for local use, let alone being able to handle commercial and tourist traffic."

"These are not easy problems to deal with," Levin emphasized, "but they are problems that must be dealt with—and dealt with now—if the Upper Peninsula is to be a healthy part of the Michigan economy. These are not problems to be solved with empty promises."

No "Patronizing"
Levin said that if elected governor he would make no "patronizing promises to the U. P." but will get programs moving "that will help the entire state and the Upper Peninsula will get its fair share of those programs."

He proposed development of vocational-technical education centers on a regional basis "to be constructed and equipped with massive outlays of state aid."

He also said his administration would include appointees from the Upper Peninsula "who know its problems."

"I won't need special commissions and committees to provide another endless round of reports on the problems of the U. P.," he said.

Levin flew to Marquette from Escanaba, then was scheduled to return to lower Michigan to continue his campaign.

AMONG THE 'ROCKHOUNDS' of this area is Miss Laurel Weiland of Escanaba, who was for several years a member (and secretary) of the Bay de Noc Gem and Mineral Club. She is pictured at the recent Upper Peninsula show holding a finished brooch of onyx, and the rough stone from which it was cut.

Beautiful Rocks

Visitors to the U. P. Gem and Mineral Show held at the Fairgrounds last weekend were impressed with the rich variety and beauty of the rocks and minerals of the region — and the skill and imagination used by the 'rockhounds' who collect, cut, and polish them into attractive and useful ornaments.

Lou Freeman, Escanaba Daily Press photographer, toured the show and made a picture record of its diversity.

Displayed were articles of gold and silver, stones polished until they shone brighter than when they were picked from the lake shore, prized gem stones, and valuable antique jewelry set with greenstone, topaz and citrine. It was proof this world is filled with wonderful things that make rockhounds happy as kings.

YOUNG AND OLD ENJOY the fascination of working with gem stones and minerals — and Bob Markert of Markert's Rock Shop & Motel, Ishpeming, offers the equipment kit for beginners displayed here. The display was a feature of the U. P. Show. With Markert is his nephew, Frank Tonkin, Ishpeming.

A BUTTERFLY PIN centers a winning display.

A GREAT VARIETY of stones, minerals and fossils were shown.

VIEWS ONE OF THE many displays was Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hartsch of Luck, Wis. They had come from Wisconsin for the show, and the display they are viewing was brought all the way from Blue Springs, Mo., by Louise Hutsell.

HOMECOMING QUEENS at high schools in Escanaba wear these crowns — gifts to Escanaba Area Public High School and Holy Name High School from the local Gem and Mineral Club. The polished gem stones are in keeping with those of the individual schools.

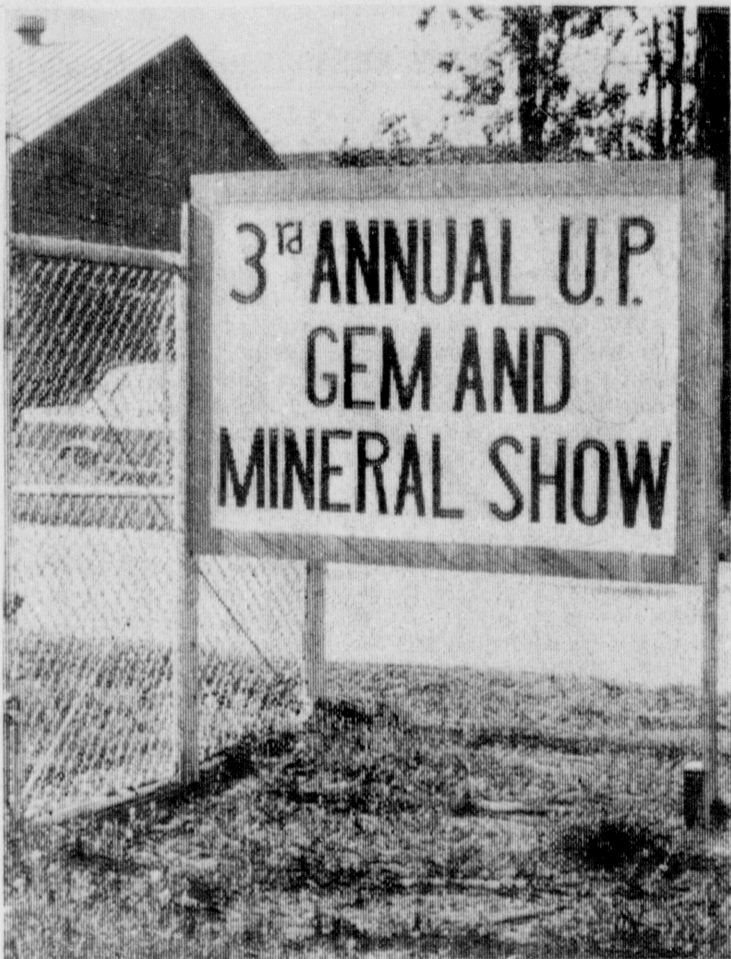

CHAIRMAN OF THE SHOW was Albert H. Murray, vice president of the Bay de Noc Gem and Mineral Club, Inc., who is pictured here with two of his several collections exhibited at the U. P. event. His entries took several firsts.

'Old Men' Catch Jack & Amie

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — What the big boys did in the first round of the National Four-Ball Championship, the aging duo of Sam Sneed and Gardner Dickinson duplicated in the second round.

Both rounds were superb. Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus tore up the par-71 Laurel Valley golf course with a 10-under 61 Thursday. The 56-year-old Sneed and the 42-year-old Dickinson, who has played on the tour only once in the past two months but hasn't changed his Ben Hogan appearance and his chain smoking, paired for a 10-under in the second round Friday.

Their excellent play gave them a tie for the lead with Palmer and Nicklaus in the 72-hole event with 128 totals, 14-under for 36 holes.

Palmer and Nicklaus, meanwhile, each had putting troubles, bogeyed two holes and birdied six in what Palmer admitted was a team collapse.

Players Allow All-Star Game

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Is there a chunk in the armor of the National Football League Players Association in its all out battle with team owners over a new contract?

The Association made a beautiful reversal of field Friday night in announcing it would permit the Kansas City Chiefs to start drills for next Friday's All-Star game in Chicago.

The change of heart from Thursday's denial of permission for the Chiefs to meet the College All-Stars was surrounded by a beautiful hearts and flowers statement.

"The Kansas City players," read the NFLPA announcement,

Timmerman Belted:

Tigers Escape With Split

DETROIT (AP)—Twice the Chicago White Sox knocked Tom Timmerman's halo askew, but the second time they should have knocked it off while they had the chance.

They couldn't quite finish the Detroit relief pitcher off in the ninth inning of the second game and the Tigers salvaged a two-night doubleheader with a 5-4 victory Friday after losing the opener 5-2.

Timmerman Victim
Both games were decided in the final inning, with ace reliever Timmerman being the victim of three of Chicago's five runs in the ninth of the opener.

Then he gave up the run that tied the second game 4-4 also in the ninth but Detroit rallied on three singles and a bases loaded walk off knuckleballer Wilbur Wood to win it.

Detroit could have gained 1½ games on first-place Baltimore in the American League East with a sweep. But the split did enable the second place Tigers to gain a half game and they now trail the Orioles by 3½ games since Baltimore lost 8-0 to Minnesota.

"I didn't figure he'd go the rest of the year without faltering," said Detroit Mayor Smith of Timmerman, who had saved 15 games since being recalled from the Tigers' Toledo farm club June 10.

The Beginner League Tigers still trail the Braves and the Wildcats in the standings, but the provided most of the excitement in the Recreation loop this week—pulling a triple play and dividing a pair of one-run games in extra innings.

The Tigers beat the Cubs 12-11 in extra innings, but dropped a 10-9 decision to the Braves. In losing, however, the Tigers pulled the first triple play of the year in the league.

The Braves, despite losing to the Wildcats 4-3, took a half game lead over the Tigers and Cubs.

In the Junior League, the Mets retain their lead, despite losing to the Cubs who won three of four games to square their record at 5-5.

But why did I have to go bad on a night we had two games," moaned Timmerman, who replaced Mike Kilkenny in the eighth of the final game.

Northrup Homers
Syd O'Brien triggered the five-run ninth in the opener with a two-run single, one of six consecutive singles and a fielder's choice which produced the scoring off starter Les Cain and Timmerman. Timmerman gave up four of the hits and the last three runs.

Ken Berry, Luis Aparicio and pinch hitter Ed Herrmann knocked in the other runs.

Jim Northrup had rocked a solo homer in the seventh inning, his 19th, breaking a scoreless duel between Cain and Chicago's Bob Miller.

Detroit went ahead 2-0 with an eighth inning run on Mickey Stanley's triple and a single by Al Kaline. Stanley finished the night with 4-for-8.

The Tigers loaded the bases in the ninth of the nightcap on singles by Stanley, Kaline and a bunt single by Elliott Maddox. Wood got one out on a force play at the plate but walked Wertz on a 3-1 count to end the game.

Rally In Ninth
The White Sox had rallied in the top of the ninth against Timmerman on a run-scoring double by Tom McCraw, who had replaced Bill Melton. Melton was hit on the left arm by a pitch and left the game. X-Rays showed no fracture.

Before being hit Melton had struck out in seven consecutive official at-bats to tie a major league record.

With one out and runners on second and third Timmerman struck out Duane Josephson. Reliever John Hiller, 5-3, came in and fanned Jim Spence to end the jam and get the win.

The Baltimore Orioles were routed by the Minnesota Twins 9-0 in a battle between the division leaders in the American League. Washington outlasted California 9-8 in 10 innings. Milwaukee overcame Boston 8-4 and Cleveland mauled Kansas City 9-2 after losing 5-3 in another two-nighter and Oakland blanked New York 11-0 in other games.

Minnesota increased its West lead to six games over California as Tony Oliva, Harmon Killebrew and Rick Renick slammed homers behind Jim Kaat's seven-hit pitching. Oliva came with two on in the fifth inning and drove out Mike Cuellar, 13-6.

Dave May broke a 0-for-25 slump with a two-run homer in the seventh inning for Milwaukee after Roberto Pena drove in four runs with two singles.

Bench and Bernie Carbo cracked homers for the rampaging West Division leaders.

Bench's 29th homer of the season gave the Reds a 2-0 edge in the fourth and Carbo connected in the fourth as the Cards lost for the sixth time in succession. St. Louis has won only two of their last 17 starts.

Stock car racing in Norway last night was dominated by two drivers, with Bill Goeden of Milwaukee winning the modified time trials and the feature and Bob Fayas, Kingsford winning the sportsman qualifying time trials, the fast heat, and the feature.

Heat winners in the modified class included Bob Ross, Sands, in heat one, Gary Randall, Escanaba, holding off Bob Iverson in the second heat, and Bob Blank, West Bend, Wis., in heat three. In the semi-feature Ross picked up his second victory with Ed Provo, Escanaba, finishing second.

In the Feature Modified, Bill Goeden passed the entire pack to take the checkered flag. Ed Powley, Canadian Sault, took second and Wally Jors, Fond du Lac, Allen Yelle, Sands, and Gary Randall, Escanaba, rounded out the top five.

In the Sportsman class, John Mattia, Norway, won the first heat, Paul Smith, Sands, won the second heat, and Bob Fayas, Kingsford, took the third heat. Fayas went from last to first in capturing the Sportsman Feature. Norway drivers Joe Hoferkorn, Pat Temple, and Mike Bublioni rounded out the top four finishers.

The drivers will compete tonight at the Escanaba Speedway with time trials at 7 p.m. and races at 8.

Agee Steals Victory For Mets, Warns Teammate On The Way

By The Associated Press
Tommy Agee was sure his daring surprise would work but he couldn't keep his lips entirely sealed as he deftly stole a victory for the New York Mets.

Agee, the Mets fleet center fielder, stole home in the 10th inning against the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night, giving the New Yorkers a 2-1 victory.

With reliever Jim Brower on the mound for the Dodgers with two outs and the bases loaded and Cleon Jones at bat with a 1-1 count, Agee went and when he got near home yelled to Jones, "Look out, look out."

Agee barreled across the plate, knocking over Los Angeles catcher Bill Haller and the home plate umpire as Jones faked swinging at the 1-1 pitch.

"I'm sure he (Brower) was surprised," Agee said afterward. "But I felt I would make it. I wouldn't have gone if I didn't think so."

Cubs Rip Braves
In other National League games, Chicago ripped Atlanta 11-1, Cincinnati blanked St. Louis 4-0, Pittsburgh bombed Houston 11-0, San Francisco split a two-night doubleheader with Montreal, winning the opener 8-7 before losing 7-5 and Philadelphia edged San Diego 4-3.

Bill Singer of the Dodgers and Jerry Kosman of the Mets each went nine innings, locked in a 1-1 tie. Singer issued five hits and Kosman six.

Home runs by Randy Hundley, Ron Santo and Billy Williams keyed a 16-hit Cubs' attack behind Ken Holtzman's six-hitter.

Gary Nolan, with eighth-inning relief help, notched his 14th victory for the Reds while John first inning and fired a four-hitter in the Pirates rout over the Astros. Willie Stargell had a homer for Pittsburgh which maintained its 2½-game lead over the Mets in the East.

Montreal took the nightcap, gaining the go-ahead run in the seventh without a hit, as Giant relievers loaded the bases on a pair of walks and a hit batsman before John Bateman drove in the deciding run with a ground out. Bateman also had a solo homer while Jim Ray Hart cracked a pair for the Giants, driving in four runs.

Pinch hitter Oscar Gamble stroked a two-out, run-scoring single in the ninth inning in the Phils' comeback victory over the Padres. Nate Colbert had given San Diego a 3-2 edge in the eighth with a two-run homer. The victory went to Grant Jackson, who won for the first time in 13 weeks and lifted his record to 2-8 with his first complete game of the season.

'Old Men' Catch Jack & Arnie

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — What the big boys did in the first round of the National Four-Ball Championship, the aging duo of Sam Snead and Gardner Dickinson duplicated in the second round.

Both rounds were superb. Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus tore up the par-71 Laurel Valley golf course with a 10-under 61 Thursday. The 58-year-old Snead and the 42-year-old Dickinson, who has played on the tour only once in the past two months but hasn't changed his Ben Hogan appearance and his chain smoking, paired for a 10-under in the second round Friday.

Their excellent play gave them a tie for the lead with Palmer and Nicklaus in the 72-hole event with 128 totals, 14-under for 36 holes.

Palmer and Nicklaus, meanwhile, each had putting troubles, bogeyed two holes and birdied six in what Palmer admitted was a team collapse.

Timmerman Belted:

Tigers Escape With Split

DETROIT (AP)—Twice the Chicago White Sox knocked Tom Timmerman's halo askew, but the second time they should have knocked it off while they had the chance.

They couldn't quite finish the Detroit relief pitcher off in the ninth inning of the second game and the Tigers salvaged a two-night doubleheader with a 5-4 victory Friday after losing the opener 5-2.

Timmerman Victim
Both games were decided in the final inning, with ace reliever Timmerman being the victim of three of Chicago's five runs in the ninth of the opener. Then he gave up the run that tied the second game 4-4 also in the ninth but Detroit rallied on three singles and a bases loaded walk off knuckleballer Wilbur Wood to win it.

Detroit could have gained 1½ games on first-place Baltimore in the American League East with a sweep. But the split did enable the second place Tigers to gain a half game and they now trail the Orioles by 3½ games since Baltimore lost 8-0 to Minnesota.

"I didn't figure he'd go the rest of the year without faltering," said Detroit Mayor Smith of Timmerman, who had saved 15 games since being recalled from the Tigers' Toledo farm club June 10.

But why did I have to go bad on a night we had two games," moaned Timmerman, who replaced Mike Kilkenny in the eighth of the final game.

Northrup Homers
Syd O'Brien triggered the five-run ninth in the opener with a two-run single, one of six consecutive singles and a fielder's choice which produced the scoring off starter Les Cain and Timmerman. Timmerman gave up four of the hits and the last three runs.

Ken Berry, Luis Aparicio and pinch hitter Ed Herrmann knocked in the other runs.

Jim Northrup had rocked a solo homer in the seventh inning, his 19th, breaking a scoreless duel between Cain and Chicago's Bob Miller.

Detroit went ahead 2-0 with an eighth inning run on Mickey Stanley's triple and a single by Al Kaline. Stanley finished the night with 6-for-8.

The Tigers loaded the bases in the ninth of the nightcap on singles by Stanley, Kaline and a bunt single by Elliott Maddox. Wood got one out on a force play at the plate but walked Wert on a 3-1 count to end the game.

Rally In Ninth
The White Sox had rallied in the top of the ninth against Timmerman on a run-scoring double by Tom McCraw, who had replaced Bill Melton. Melton was hit on the left arm by a pitch and left the game. X-Rays showed no fracture.

Before being hit Melton had struck out in seven consecutive official at-bats to tie a major league record.

With one out and runners on second and third Timmerman struck out Duane Josephson. Reliever John Hiller, 5-3, came in and fanned Jim Spence to end the jam and get the win.

The Baltimore Orioles were routed by the Minnesota Twins 8-0 in a battle between the division leaders in the American League, Washington outlasted California 9-8 in 10 innings, Milwaukee overcame Boston 8-4 and Cleveland mauled Kansas City 9-2 after losing 5-3 in another two-nighter and Oakland blanked New York 11-0 in other games.

Minnesota increased its West lead to six games over California as Tony Oliva, Harmon Killebrew and Rick Renick slammed homers behind Jim Kaat's seven-hit pitching. Oliva's came with two on in the fifth inning and drove out Mike Cuellar, 13-6.

Dave May broke a 0-for-25 slump with a two-run homer in the seventh inning for Milwaukee after Roberto Pena drove in four runs with two singles.

Sluggers Find Real Slugger
The Sluggers of the girls recreation softball league have finally found someone who can justify the team name in the person of Sue Flippin.

Sue, who hit three home runs this week, gave the Sluggers their first win powering an upset over the league's leading Impossibles, 5-3. Pam VanEnkevort added a home run to the Sluggers' total in that win. Games will continue on Tuesday and Thursday at 10:30 at Royce Park.

The girls track program, this week featuring the distance throw and the running long jump in addition to the regular dashes and relay runs, will continue at Royce Park on Tuesday and Thursday at 9:30 a. m.

Manistique Gains LL Final

MANISTIQUE — Manistique and Menominee Little League teams posted first round victories Friday to advance to today's championship game in the district Little League baseball tournament.

Manistique defeated Munising 6-2, scoring in each of the first three innings, and Menominee squeezed past Escanaba 1-0.

Manistique and Menominee square off in the first game of a doubleheader this afternoon at Manistique's new Little League diamond. Escanaba and Munising were scheduled at 3 p. m. in a consolation game.

Manistique's Little Leaguers took a 1-0 lead in the first inning, saw Munising tie the game in the top of the second, and then scored two runs without a hit in the bottom of the second and three more runs on three hits in the third inning to seal the victory.

Jeff Miller pitched the distance for the winners, yielding four hits, including a pair to his pitching rival Kevin Way.

Manistique collected five hits from Way, spread evenly among five batters.

Menominee scored a run in the top of the first inning and pitcher Ken Everson made it stand up by striking out 11 and allowing only two hits.

Dick Shatusky scored the run, singling up the middle of the diamond off Escanaba pitcher Mike Smith with one out. He moved to second on a pass ball and to third on a wild pitch and then after a walk to Loren Doepke, scored when Escanaba's infield failed to complete an attempted double play on a bounce to shortstop by Scott Hubert.

Menominee threatened to score more runs in the second and third innings, but Smith bore down and slammed the door.

Escanaba came closest to scoring in the third inning when Cliff Stratton doubled off the center field fence, narrowly missing a home run. Jerry Moran had the only other hit, a single.

Russians Beat U.S. Thincle's
LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R., (AP) — The Soviet Union defeated the United States 200-173 Friday after two days of grueling track and field competition in weather that was too wet and chilly for the Americans.

Coach Leroy Walker said the U.S. team, which includes many Californians, "was not prepared for this weather."

But Walker conceded that the younger and greener U.S. squad was seriously "overmatched in age and experience."

The defeat here ended a three-stop European tour for the collegiate track team that defeated France and lost to West Germany before coming to the Soviet Union.

Pit Men Killed In Race Crash
DARLINGTON, Wisc. (AP) — Three pit crewmen at a county fair stock car race died Friday night and four more were injured when a racer collided with another car, skidded backward into the pits and overturned a wrecking truck.

Sheriff Ken Pratt said two of the dead victims were pinned under the overturned wrecker. All three were from the Rockford, Ill., area.

Pratt estimated the car, a late-model Chevrolet, was traveling 90 miles an hour in the back straightaway on the half-mile dirt oval at the Lafayette County Fair when it collided with another car.

It skidded into the wrecker and bounced away, but was checked by cables and steel fencing before it could reach spectator areas. About 4,000 persons were watching the race.

The dead were identified as Robert W. Henn, 15; James R. Hardman, 30, and Laverne L. Meyers, 17.

Two pit workers were hospitalized, neither in critical condition. They are Ray Burkhalter, 25, of Rockford and William Cullen 35, of Darlington.

Legion Baseball Tourney Resumes
MENOMINEE—The District 11 American Legion junior baseball tournament resumed at Spies Field this morning with the Escanaba Cubs clashing with Manistique in a loser's bracket game.

Manistique dropped into the loser's bracket Thursday night in a 15-7 loss to Menominee.

Menominee and Schaffer, the only undefeated teams in the tournament, tangled at 2:30 p. m. today.

The tournament schedule pairs the winner of this morning's game against the loser of the afternoon contest at 10:30 a. m. Sunday with that winner advancing to the finals at 2 p. m. against the winner's bracket entry. If a second game is necessary in the double-elimination tournament it will be played at 6 p. m. Monday.

In beating Manistique Thursday night, Menominee jumped on starting pitcher Russ King for three runs in each of the first two innings for a 6-0 lead. They added singletons in the fourth and sixth and six more runs in the seventh for a 14-0 cushion before Manistique was able to get a hit off Menominee left-handed pitcher Jeff Gressick.

Manistique plated six runs in the seventh inning on four hits—a double by Paul Ozanich and singles by Kim Hartman, Dave Read and Lou Miller—coupled with a pair of walks and several Menominee errors.

Agee Steals Victory For Mets, Warns Teammate On The Way
By The Associated Press
Tommy Agee was sure his daring surprise would work but he couldn't keep his lips entirely sealed as he deftly stole a victory for the New York Mets.

Agee, the Mets fleet center fielder, stole home in the 10th inning against the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night, giving the New Yorkers a 2-1 victory.

With reliever Jim Brewer on the mound for the Dodgers with two outs and the bases loaded and Cleon Jones at bat with a 1-1 count, Agee went and when he got near home yelled to Jones, "Look out, look out."

Agee barreled across the plate, knocking over Los Angeles catcher Bill Haller and the home plate umpire as Jones faked swinging at the 1-1 pitch.

"I'm sure he (Brewer) was surprised," Agee said afterward. "But I felt I would make it. I wouldn't have gone if I didn't think so."

Cubs Rip Braves
In other National League games, Chicago ripped Atlanta 11-1, Cincinnati blanked St. Louis 4-0, Pittsburgh bombed Houston 11-0, San Francisco split a two-night doubleheader with Montreal, winning the opener 8-7 before losing 7-5 and Philadelphia edged San Diego 4-3.

Bill Singer of the Dodgers and Jerry Kosman of the Mets each went nine innings, locked in a 1-1 tie. Singer issued five hits and Kosman six.

Home runs by Randy Hundley, Ron Santo and Billy Williams keyed a 16-hit Cubs' attack behind Ken Holtzman's six-hitter.

Gary Nolan, with eighth inning relief help, notched his 14th victory for the Reds while John

Players Allow All-Star Game
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Is there a chink in the armor of the National Football League Players Association in its all out battle with team owners over a new contract?

The Association made a beautiful reversal of field Friday night in announcing it would permit the Kansas City Chiefs to start drills for next Friday's All-Star game in Chicago.

The change of heart from Thursday's denial of permission for the Chiefs to meet the College All-Stars was surrounded by a beautiful hearts and flowers statement.

"The Kansas City players," read the NFLPA announcement,

"believe strongly that this is not a situation that should be used as a lever for the owners or players, but as a sincere effort on the part of the NFLPA, the NFL owners and the Kansas City Chiefs to keep tradition and pride in its proper perspective."

The Association said that at no time did it intend to jeopardize the All-Star game. It explained that the players didn't answer the owners affirmatively earlier because Kansas City coach Hank Stram said publicly that his Super Bowl champions could play the game if it began organized practices by Saturday, and that the players felt strongly that the dispute would be settled by Saturday.

The dispute hasn't been settled, not after seven hours of talks Friday between the Association and the owners committee under the guidance of federal mediators. They were back at the bargaining table today at 10 a.m.

In Memoriam

Kanerva

In loving memory of our beloved son and brother, Larry, who was taken from our family circle one year ago, July 25, 1969.

A ray of sunshine has gone from our home. Since you are called away, often we think we hear his foot steps.

Or see his smiling face. We life does not seem the same and a place is vacant today. We often sit and think of you. The things you used to say. We wonder why you had to leave. But we're trying to live just day to day.

While life and memory last, we will remember you. And we often speak of you and how much you would be if you were with us today.

Sadly Missed by Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kanerva, Terry & Jim

Card of Thanks

Kozlowski

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness and sympathy in the death of our brother, Donald Kozlowski. We are especially grateful to Father Nadeau for his comforting words, to the pallbearers, to those who sent flowers, spiritual bouquets, the donation of food, those who offered the use of their cars and drivers, Boyce Chapel and all others who helped in any way.

The Kozlowski Family

Oakman

Because we cannot thank each of you personally, we take this way of telling you how much we appreciated your sympathy and kindness at the time of our bereavement. The sudden illness and death of our beloved mother and grandmother, Elizabeth Oakman, a special thank you to the Nurses and Sisters on 2nd floor at St. Francis Hospital who did everything to comfort her in her illness. To Rev. Joseph Abelt and Rev. Karl Hamer for words of comfort. To Dr. McMorris, who sent cards, gifts, flowers, the organist and choir, the pallbearers, Central Methodist Church for serving lunch, and Anderson Funeral Home. Your kindness and thoughtfulness will always be remembered.
